Form 3	Active	Canonical WordPress home-value path

The public funnel, canonical storage, attribution, consent evidence, deterministic routing, notification outbox, Lead Center controls, and WordPress Form 3 bridge remain operational. Phase 7 adds governed permissions, versioned templates, test-only sequences, provider-event handling, and advisory AI without changing the genuine-lead delivery path.

2. Communication control plane

Authoritative permission decisions

- Requested-service responses remain distinct from marketing.
- Ambiguous consent fails closed; phone presence never implies SMS consent.
- QA recipient override requires both test and suppressed state.

Governed messaging

- Immutable template versions reject unknown variables and escape untrusted content.
- Sequences support approval, scheduling, claim-before-send, quiet hours, frequency caps, bounded retries, stop conditions, and idempotency.
- Carrier SMS uses the mock provider only; consumer email and SMS remain disabled.

Resend webhook ingestion is code-complete but remains disabled until a signing secret and deployed signed-event replay test are available.

3. Advisory AI acceptance

Architecture	OpenAI Responses API with structured output
Model observed	gpt-5.6-luna
Fixture	Synthetic, suppressed, non-contactable QA record
Latency	7,698 ms
Usage	491 input / 796 output tokens
Estimated cost	$0.005267
Automatic action	Disabled

The system keeps recorded facts, deterministic controls, and AI recommendations visibly separate. AI cannot infer consent, change assignment, send messages, or block lead capture. Provider failure falls back to a deterministic advisory summary.
